BEST AWARDED PREDS FOUNDATION HELPER GRANT FOR SECOND YEAR!

Bridgestone Arena to accept an $8,000 grant to support our annual community event centered around blindness awareness and accessibility. This year’s event is meant to spread awareness and help support our annual community event centered around blindness awareness and accessibility. The Nashville Public Library downtown. On behalf of the Nashville Predators Foundation, we are thrilled to be a recipient for the second year in a row. On May 17th, BEST co-founders, Alison Clougherty and Stacy Cornwall, along with Fundraising and Donor Engagement Manager, Anne Farhangi, were on hand at Bridgestone Arena to accept an $8,000 grant to support our annual community event centered around blindness awareness and accessibility. This year’s event is meant to spread awareness and help support our annual community event centered around blindness awareness and accessibility. The Nashville Public Library downtown. On behalf of the Nashville Predators Foundation, we are thrilled to be a recipient for the second year in a row. On May 17th, BEST co-founders, Alison Clougherty and Stacy Cornwall, along with Fundraising and Donor Engagement Manager, Anne Farhangi, were on hand at Bridgestone Arena to accept an $8,000 grant to support our annual community event centered around blindness awareness and accessibility. This year’s event is meant to spread awareness and help support our annual community event centered around blindness awareness and accessibility. The Nashville Public Library downtown. On behalf of the Nashville Predators Foundation, we are thrilled to be a recipient for the second year in a row. On May 17th, BEST co-founders, Alison Clougherty and Stacy Cornwall, along with Fundraising and Donor Engagement Manager, Anne Farhangi, were on hand at Bridgestone Arena to accept an $8,000 grant to support our annual community event centered around blindness awareness and accessibility. This year’s event is meant to spread awareness and help support our annual community event centered around blindness awareness and accessibility. The Nashville Public Library downtown. On behalf of the Nashville Predators Foundation, we are thrilled to be a recipient for the second year in a row. On May 17th, BEST co-founders, Alison Clougherty and Stacy Cornwall, along with Fundraising and Donor Engagement Manager, Anne Farhangi, were on hand at Bridgestone Arena to accept an $8,000 grant to support our annual community event centered around blindness awareness and accessibility. This year’s event is meant to spread awareness and help support our annual community event centered around blindness awareness and accessibility. The Nashville Public Library downtown. On behalf of the Nashville Predators Foundation, we are thrilled to be a recipient for the second year in a row. On May 17th, BEST co-founders, Alison Clougherty and Stacy Cornwall, along with Fundraising and Donor Engagement Manager, Anne Farhangi, were on hand at Bridgestone Arena to accept an $8,000 grant to support our annual community event centered around blindness awareness and accessibility. This year’s event is meant to spread awareness and help support our annual community event centered around blindness awareness and accessibility. The Nashville Public Library downtown.

Don't Miss Dr. Cathy Smyth on the Next Episode of the BEST Together Podcast

Dr. Cathy Smyth is a Clinical Associate Professor at the University of Utah and a Clinical Investigator at the Rocky Mountain Hospital for Children’s NICU and the University of Utah. Dr. Cathy Smyth has worked on studies around such important topics as mealtime engagement and coaching for blind children during their most formative years. In her most recent project, she has been involved with many nonprofit organizations and families in Tennessee. She has been providing mental health therapy to children with visual impairments. Anchor provides exceptional, high-quality early intervention services and family support. If you missed our TV debut, be sure to view it at the link below!

WHAT WE'RE LOVING THIS MONTH!

Podcast for Parents and Providers of Children with CVI

Dr. Catherine Smyth has more than 30 years of experience in the field of visual impairments, concept and tactile development for preschoolers, and supporting families and individuals affected by visual impairments. She is now the Director of Research at Anchor Center For Blind Children, a private, non-profit agency serving young children with visual impairments. She is involved with many nonprofit organizations and families in Tennessee. She has been providing mental health therapy to children with visual impairments. Anchor provides exceptional, high-quality early intervention services and family support. If you missed our TV debut, be sure to view it at the link below!

Don't Miss Dr. Cathy Smyth on the Next Episode of the BEST Together Podcast

Dr. Cathy Smyth is a Clinical Associate Professor at the University of Utah and a Clinical Investigator at the Rocky Mountain Hospital for Children’s NICU and the University of Utah. Dr. Cathy Smyth has worked on studies around such important topics as mealtime engagement and coaching for blind children during their most formative years. In her most recent project, she has been involved with many nonprofit organizations and families in Tennessee. She has been providing mental health therapy to children with visual impairments. Anchor provides exceptional, high-quality early intervention services and family support. If you missed our TV debut, be sure to view it at the link below!

WHAT WE'RE LOVING THIS MONTH!

Podcast for Parents and Providers of Children with CVI

Dr. Catherine Smyth has more than 30 years of experience in the field of visual impairments, concept and tactile development for preschoolers, and supporting families and individuals affected by visual impairments. She is now the Director of Research at Anchor Center For Blind Children, a private, non-profit agency serving young children with visual impairments. She is involved with many nonprofit organizations and families in Tennessee. She has been providing mental health therapy to children with visual impairments. Anchor provides exceptional, high-quality early intervention services and family support. If you missed our TV debut, be sure to view it at the link below!

WHAT WE'RE LOVING THIS MONTH!

Podcast for Parents and Providers of Children with CVI

Dr. Catherine Smyth has more than 30 years of experience in the field of visual impairments, concept and tactile development for preschoolers, and supporting families and individuals affected by visual impairments. She is now the Director of Research at Anchor Center For Blind Children, a private, non-profit agency serving young children with visual impairments. She is involved with many nonprofit organizations and families in Tennessee. She has been providing mental health therapy to children with visual impairments. Anchor provides exceptional, high-quality early intervention services and family support. If you missed our TV debut, be sure to view it at the link below!

WHAT WE'RE LOVING THIS MONTH!

Podcast for Parents and Providers of Children with CVI

Dr. Catherine Smyth has more than 30 years of experience in the field of visual impairments, concept and tactile development for preschoolers, and supporting families and individuals affected by visual impairments. She is now the Director of Research at Anchor Center For Blind Children, a private, non-profit agency serving young children with visual impairments. She is involved with many nonprofit organizations and families in Tennessee. She has been providing mental health therapy to children with visual impairments. Anchor provides exceptional, high-quality early intervention services and family support. If you missed our TV debut, be sure to view it at the link below!